*In every place, then,
people should pray, lifting up their holy hands...*

1 Timothy 2: 8

Reflection: Carolyn Sur, SSND; Design: Joyelle Proot, SSND

Our hands are holy because they are a gift from God.

Think of the numerous ways we use our holy hands: housework, personal contacts, business meetings, yardwork, writing, raising children, cooking, eating, leisure, etc.

St. Paul reminds us that every baptized person lifts their holy hands in prayer not only for themselves, their family, community, and country, but for the entire human race.

Regardless of our position, health, age, or any other condition, we offer supplications, intercessions, and thanksgiving to God for ourselves and others.

Let us honor our sacred pauses when we remember God.

Let us reverence our holy hands in prayer for each other.

– Sister Janice
